

EBSQ in Surgical Oncology

Examination fee and payment details

The cost of applying for the EBSQ in Surgical Oncology is €500

- €250 for the Eligibility Assessment which must be paid at the time of application and which is non refundable in case of non-selection or withdrawal.
- €250 for the Examination which must be paid within two weeks following confirmation of selection. Candidates will be informed about the exact deadline for this in the near future.

Cancellation and refund policy: refund of the examination fee (€250) is only permitted if the UEMS is notified of cancellation at least 6 weeks in advance of the date of the exam. Candidates who cancel after this period will not be eligible for a refund as the UEMS will have incurred non refundable costs in arranging examiners at this point. Candidates requiring a visa should bear this in mind and apply for their visa in good time.

Candidates who cancel having passed the eligibility assessment will be able to apply for the exam within the following 2 years without paying the eligibility assessment fee again. Candidates who fail the exam may resit within 2 years without undergoing a further eligibility assessment/eligibility fee but will have to pay the examination fee (€250) each time they resit.

Further details can be found in the Instructions on how to apply on the UEMS website. The examination fee is to be paid to the UEMS, Section of Surgery, after acceptance of the candidate's application. Please note that only payments via pay pal will be accepted..
